WAR SERVICE LIST

1914—1919.

PHŒNIX HOUSE, KING WILLIAM STREET, LONDON, E.C.4.

1921.

FOREWORD.

FOR some years before the outbreak of War in 1914, the Directors of the "Phœnix" had encouraged the junior members of the Staff to join the Territorial Forces, with the result that on the declaration of hostilities a considerable number of "Phœnix" men were at once called up for military duty. A very large proportion of the remaining members of the Junior Staff at the same time expressed their desire to join the Colours, and this wish was also encouraged, in every way possible, by granting leave of absence to all men who could possibly be spared, and by giving financial assistance to those who were thus able to go, extending in all earlier cases to a guarantee of full salary during absence.

During the course of the War repeated efforts were made to spare additional men, the Staff being periodically scrutinised with the greatest possible care, and 500 men of all ranks in the Company's service (including the "Union Marine"), at home and abroad, in addition to four of the Directors, ultimately joined the Forces. The names of these are given in the following pages.

The Directors much regret that one of their colleagues and 64 members of the Staff were either killed or died of wounds or sickness, or were reported as missing. Particulars of these are given in the Roll of Honour which appears at the beginning of the lists.

A number of the men who served rose to responsible rank and many received decorations from the British and Allied Governments, or were mentioned in despatches. A list of the distinctions thus gained is prefixed to the list of names.

The names of those members of the Home Staff who are known to have been pre-war Territorials, or otherwise trained men, have been marked with an asterisk.

The Directors have erected two Memorials in the Company's Head Office to commemorate the services thus rendered to the Country. They were fortunately able to secure the services of Sir GEORGE FRAMPTON, R.A., for the execution of these, and photographs of the Tablets are given opposite pages 3 and 13. One is inscribed to those who lost their lives, and the other is in commemoration of the service of those who happily survived, including the service rendered to the Company by those who remained at their work to form the nucleus of the emergency Staff that carried on the Company's work during the War. Their task, though less glorious, was exceedingly onerous and increasingly difficult, and had an important bearing on the maintenance of the business organisation of the Country.
